January 2014

I would like to thank Neil from Retroflo for the work he carried out on my house.

He arrived early to ensure the job was done on time, and worked throughout the morning without a break, causing a minimum of disruption to the household.

He fitted a new electric vehicle charging unit, work which I thought would need the power to be off for some considerable time, and therefore planned my working day accordingly. However, I was without power for less than 15 minutes, and was able to do much more than I expected.

All in all, a great service, which I will recommend to family and friends.
